No Land Idling In 1975

USDA Official Calls For Full Crop Production

"It should not be necessary to ask farmers to idle land in 1975," Kenneth E. Frick told farm leaders here today, in reference to government programs for wheat and feed grains.

Last July, Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz announced the lifting of all acreage set-aside (idling) provisions for 1974 programs. Frick said the current grain production and demand outlook indicates a need for continuation of a full production policy in 1975.

"There are two main reasons we should be able to continue our 'hands-off' policy in farmers' production plans," according to Frick, Administrator of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

"First of all, we plan to keep the government out of the commodity business, and leave stocks in private hands," Frick told members of the National Association of Farmer-Elected Committeemen. "This will result in less government interference in farm markets, lower cost to taxpayers, and greater dependence on the marketplace, not government, by farmers for their incomes."

"Second, the high demand for U.S. Agricultural Products at home and abroad will continue." He indicated current projections for U.S. Farm Exports were probably low.

"The U. S. is no longer the world's residual supplier of farm products. We have the best exporting system and the world's most efficient farm production. As a result, we have become the most dependable food and fiber supplier. There is no reason why we cannot maintain our role as the world's number one agricultural supplier."

"The efficiency and productivity of the American farmer has also allowed us to maintain our domestic and world humanitarian role," Frick said.

Frick noted that federal costs have been greatly reduced as a result of market-oriented farm programs. "Because of reduced payments of programs and for storage of government-owned stocks, the farm program share of the USDA budget has been reduced from above 40 percent to an estimated 5 percent for the current budget.

He noted that farm efficiency has been helped two ways by the turnaround in farm policy. "Farmers have the freedom to choose the crops they feel they can grow best for the most return," Frick said, "and full production farming allows for economies of volume."

Among the other options for 1975 programs Frick discussed with the farm group were commodity loans made to farmers for interim financing and the government's sales policy for disposing of commodities acquired under the programs.

Frick said government planners are discussing the possibility of setting the sales price for government-owned grains at 115 percent of the target price for the commodity involved. Target prices are prices established by law as a basis for payments to farmers, should average market prices fall below prescribed target levels.

He also said the government was considering a change in provisions to offer loans for a 12 month period only, with no loan extension, or "reseal," as has been often offered in the past. "The reseal ing of production under loan represents a non-decision on the part of

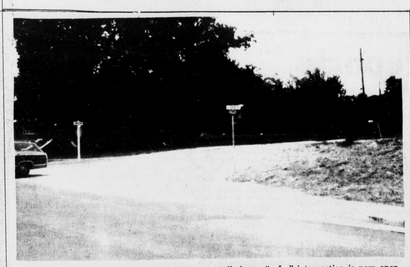
Crime Wave Hits Appomattox County



IMPROVEMENTS HAVE BEEN COMPLED at the interestion of Church Street and Lee-Court Avenue. Shown above you can tell that a "safer" intersection is now open and is a real asset to the road system in the Town of Appomattox.

To The Citizens of Appomattox County:

We would like for you to be aware of the house break-ins occuring in Appomattox County. We have had approximately seven or eight house break-ins in the last two weeks. We feel like these break-ins are occuring by some of the door to door salesmen. If you have dealing with any door to door salesman and if you do not know them, please get the license number of the vehicle and try to find out the subjects name. We know one of the robberies occured by one female and one male. When they approached Mrs. Grady they were selling carpet rugs. While the lady was talking to Mrs. Grady in reference to carpets the male subject was robbing her. A couple of hours after they left, she found that the subject had taken approximately $400 some jewelry. According to Mrs. Grady, these subjects were driving a dark car.

In the other house break-ins the subjects were driving a light blue or light green car; the make of car is unknown.

In these break-ins we feel like the subject knocks on the door and when they find that no one is home, they break into the home.

If you have any information or see any car that fits this description we would appreciate you calling Appomattox County Sheriff's Office, 352-8241, right away. Please do not wait for three days and then call us, as the subject will have enough time to get away, and we still be unable to trace them, unless we have a license number; then they could have a stolen license plate on the vehicle. If you call us at once, it may give us a chance to catch them.

Sheriff To Attend Hearings

Appomattox County Sheriff J. E. Richardson will attend two public hearings next month as the Virginia State Crime Commission's sub-committee on compensation of law enforcement will convene at Norfolk and Fredericksburg.

The Norfolk hearing will be conducted August 2 at City Hall while the Sheraton Motor Inn is the site selected for the Fredericksburg session. Both meetings are planned for 10:00 a.m.

Delegate Claude W. Anderson of Buckingham, chairman of the sub-committee said, "We chose those areas because they were surrounded by a number of small towns. Expressions of those appearing at the hearings strongly indicate a possible need for adjusting the compensation of local law enforcement officers."

Representing the Crime Commission are Senator George M. Warren, Jr. of Bristol, Delegates A. L. Philpott of Bassett and L. Ray Ashworth of Wakefield and Attorney General Andrew P. Miller.

Law enforcement groups are represented by Colonel William L. Durrer, Fairfax County chief of police, State Police field supervisor Major C.M. Boldin, Farmville chief of police Otto S. Overton, Charles E. Thompson of Richmond and Richardson.

While the General Assembly cannot fix local police salary ranges as they do for sheriffs and deputies, Anderson said the committee is anxious to determine the extent the Commonwealth might supplement police pay and determine the system of doing it.

Appomattox Town Manager, William Slagle has appeared at previous hearings in an effort to explain to the committee the problems exp erenced by small towns in finding and retaining high quality law enforcement officers.

Town Manager W. S. Slagle told council members that the town's sewage pump station has arrived and discussed with council members general terms of a proposed move by the state Water Control Board and the Environmental Protection Agency which would revoke the town's sewage discharge certificate.

New council members, Marvin House, Jr. and Ronald Spiggle were welcomed to the town council by Mayor Pack.

Committee assignments included Hubbard being named chairman of the Account and Finance Committee with Mrs. Robinson and House serving as members.

Berkley Guill was named chairman of the Street and Light Committee with Spiggle and T. E. Conner as members. Conner will chair the Property and Recreation Committee with Guill and House serving as members while Spiggle will head the Sewer Commitee, with Mrs. Robinson and Hubbard serving as members.

Farmers and ranchers, get ready for the 1974 Census of Agriculture! Keep good records of your farming operations this year! Cannery Operation In Full Swing

On Tuesday morning, the beginning of the 11th day since the Appomattox Cannery opened for the season, 17,012 cans of vegetables and fruit had been processed from early gardens according to Mrs. Mary Ann McFadden, Manager at the Cannery in Appomattox. She says things have really been "buzzing" since they opened July 1st.

In the photo above people on the right are busy filling their cans and on the left side in the picture people are seen sealing cans.

Mrs. McFadden and Sam Davidson, co-manager, feel that business should really be good at the cannery all season due to the high cost of living, seasonable spring weather, and the fact that more people than ever before are raising gardens.

As of Tuesday morning, Mrs. McFadden said that so far this has been the biggest, busiest July in her six years at the cannery.
